

5000 MARCH IN PARADE DUTY DAY

MOST INSPIRING EVENT EVER WITNESSED IN CITY—WHOLE CITY TURNS OUT FOR EXERCISES.

GREATEST IN HISTORY

Impressive Program Given Before
Great Thrill in Court House
Park Following Parade.

Janesville is ready for the supreme sacrifice. Five thousand people marched yesterday afternoon in the greatest parade that the city has ever witnessed.

It was a hushed crowd, impressed with the tremendous significance of the day, and carrying itself with a reserve seldom found in so large an assemblage. As the long procession filed past, but sporadic outbursts of applause burst forth from corners and groups of spectators.

Thanks to the careful plans and administration of Chief Marshal Charles Putnam, his assistants and the members of the Duty Day committee, the afternoon proceeded with scarcely a hitch.

TO THOSE WHO PARTICIPATED IN DUTY DAY EXERCISES:

The special committee of the Commercial Club in charge of the Duty Day program, desire to express on behalf of the Commercial Club the appreciation of that organization to the various bodies and individuals, men, women and children, that made the parade and exercises such an unqualified success.

The wonderful spirit which pervaded the entire procedure has never been equalled here and will do much to cement the feeling of loyalty and patriotism among the people.

Signed,
DUTY DAY COMMITTEE COMMERCIAL CLUB.

occasion, though there were thousands of children congregated on the streets. The threatening weather seemed to deter no one, and the line of march was literally flooded with people.

All of the various organizations which appeared in the parade, assembled at their designated places at two o'clock sharp, according to schedule. From Park street, where the band, the speakers, the Grand Army men, the Spanish War Veterans, the Boy Scouts and Company M, gathered, the line of march passed between two solid lines of excited school children, where were gathered the pupils of the primary, intermediate and the high school, but children of the German Lutheran, St. Mary's and St. Patrick's schools, with their teachers, were in the front line, escorting their young charges. At Academy the line of march turned east to Court, and up Court to the Court house. The parade was a magnificent sight, the people marched in columns of fours, was nearly a mile long and took an hour to pass one point.

Following the parade, the mayor's remarks to the school children of the city, assembled in a body, sang "America" and the Star Spangled Banner, under the direction of Miss Emily Sewell. The mayor then made a short address, and explained in detail the bonds and the method of subscription, whereby it was made possible for everyone to contribute to this loan.

Summary of War News

The weekly toll of German submarines will be made public in London today and the forecast from the British capital, usually inspired, predicted that the announcement will carry the cheering news of another marked decrease in merchant shipping losses. The ravages of U-boats have steadily diminished since the week ending April 2, when fifty-five ships were lost to the bottom and only eighteen vessels were reported sunk. The tightening curb on the submarine has synchronized with the arrival of the American destroyers to take part in the campaign and a renewal of British raids by air and sea on the U-boat bases on the Belgian coast. Especially powerful attacks have been made on Zeebrugge.

On the land, the British are maintaining the terrific bombardment and trench raids against the German lines in the Ypres section, tactics which have always hitherto heralded a great infantry offensive. The bombardment and trench raids have been maintained for several days and the feeling is general that General Haig is about to launch another smashing blow against the invaders of France.

The unrest seething throughout continental Europe has had a fresh manifestation in an outbreak of rioting in Stockholm. For some months there have been reports of growing discontent among masses of Swedish people, and now comes the significant news of a military and police guard for several days and the feeling is general that General Haig is about to launch another smashing blow against the invaders of France.

The Russian situation remains vague and uncertain. The possibility of an offensive is hinted at in the official report from the general staff office, that the Austro-German artillery has opened intense fire on the Galician front.

Prussian militarism; the world cannot exist half free and half dominated by Prussianism, any more than America can exist half free and half slave. Either Germany must be defeated, or we will be. If we are defeated, it will be because we are contented and if we are contented, we must pay the price of the vanquished. Win or pay tribute. Bonds or bondage. Millions for defense but not one cent for tribute never had better reason for utterance.

WISCONSIN FIRST STATE HEARD FROM

BADGER STATE REPORTS 218,700 MEN OF DRAFT AGE IN SEMI-COMPLETE RETURNS TO WASHINGTON.

GET HEARTY RESPONSE

Registration Day Passes Without Disorders of Serious Nature Department of Justice Announces.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS)
Madison, June 6.—Wisconsin's total registration with ten precincts to report, was 218,700. This was the first state to report.

The total does not include aliens not having their full papers or alien certificates. A telegram was sent to the United States census at five o'clock this morning giving the total registration nine hours in advance of the time asked by the government for report. The first to report was Richland and La Crosse less than two minutes later.

Milwaukee Reports.
Milwaukee's first report from Hon. at noon wired Governor Philipp at Madison that Milwaukee's military registration aggregated 47,366; that there are 8,126 aliens here and 1,237 alien enemies.

Claimed exemptions, the mayor telegraphed, total 2,386, or less than half the total registration. Colored men comprise today is pursued to the city outside of the city showed that about 800 registered of this number. The cards disclosed above generally used in the city.

Milwaukee is ten hours ahead of any other large city in completing her registration work, said the mayor. Figures for the county outside of the city showed that about 800 registered of this number. The cards disclosed above generally used in the city.

Superior. Superior lines waiting to register under the selective draft law when the time for closing came last night, delayed the tabulation in two precincts. The tabulation of the county outside of the city showed that about 800 registered of this number. The cards disclosed above generally used in the city.

Washington, June 6.—Provost Marshal General Crowder announced this morning that inasmuch as all registrars had been given up to noon today to make up their reports, no entirely complete returns of their registration could be expected until late today.

The provost marshal general said he interpreted the law to permit any who in good faith failed to register yesterday to do so today and announced a liberal policy regarding the matter to make the registration complete.

Telegraphic reports to the department of justice from widely separated sections of the country continue to show generally no trouble over registration and a thorough response to the provisions of the conscription law. The reports indicated that estimates of registration had been largely exceeded in some states.

COUNTY REGISTERS 5,789 ON DUTY DAY

EVERY MAN WITHIN AGE LIMIT OF DRAFT SIGNS UP REGIS-TRATION OFFICIALS
DECLARE.

1,212 IN JANESVILLE

Total of 2,286 Eligible Men Register
From Beloit—But One Slacker
In the Entire County.

There were 5,789 men of draft age registered in Rock county at Duty Day, according to the complete official returns which were telegraphed to Governor Philipp by County Clerk H. W. Lee at 10:46 o'clock Tuesday night. Registration officials report that every man within the specified age limit was enrolled. With one possible exception, there was not a slacker in the county. One man in the town of La Prairie is reported to have shipped out to evade registration. Sheriff Whipple learned last night. The case will be investigated with all possible dispatch.

At the various registration places throughout the county the day passed quietly without disturbances of any kind. The men signed up willingly, showing their readiness to serve their country if the call comes for them to go. The registration booths were nerve centers of patriotic feeling. The day brought home to every man that America is at war and that this is a time for sober thought and self-sacrificing activity.

The number of men of draft age in the county was much larger than the registrars expected. In Janesville there was a total of 1,212 enrolled, 2,286 registered practically three-fourths of the county being residents of these two cities. Two calls came from Beloit for more registration cards. One call was filed by several hundred extra blanks on Monday. Janesville County Clerk Lee supplied the second call Tuesday afternoon, when Sheriff Whipple delivered nine hundred more cards to the city clerk.

Following is Rock county's registration by precincts:
Townships—Aron, 58; Beloit, 83; Bradford, 70; Center, 99; Clinton, 83; Fulton, 84; Harmony, 99; Janesville, 77; Johnson, 74; La Prairie, 73; Magnolia, 70; Milton, 120; Newark, 69; New York, 105; Porter, 80; Rock, 102; St. Albans, 57; Turtle, 112; Union, 86.

Villages—Clinton, 72; Milton, 61; Orfordville, 34.
First ward, 386; second ward, 265; third ward, 257; fourth ward, 185; fifth ward, 185.

Total for the county, 5,789.
The county clerk said that every man of the county for their promptness in sending in the returns and in the manner in which the registration was conducted.

Mr. Lee today, Mr. Lee was loud in his praise of the work which the registrars accomplished, and commented especially on the fact that every man of the county for their promptness in sending in the returns and in the manner in which the registration was conducted.

The first precinct to report its results was the town of Aron, whose registrar telegraphed at 9:01 p. m. The city of Edgerton was second, the town of Janesville third, Clinton village fourth and Clinton township fifth. As registrar County Clerk Lee in tabulating the returns were Sheriff Robert O. Whipple, J. A. Craig and William McIntosh, members of the county registration board.

Rock county was the seventeenth county in the state to report complete returns to the governor. The registration cards were brought in to the county clerk's office today by the registrars in person. They will be held pending instructions from the governor, which are expected shortly. # Delicious steak "toasted" Yes Sir!

THE way you like it, exactly—thick, savory—butter melting on top; tender and juicy. It's "toasted," isn't it (of course you call it broiled).

You wouldn't want it raw, would you? Cer-tain-ly NOT!

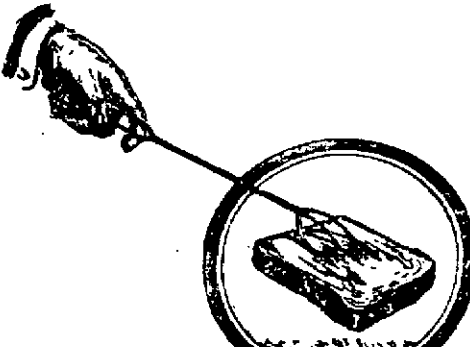

And for exactly the same reason you'll like Lucky Strike Cigarettes. The Burley tobacco—it's toasted. Puts in a new flavor, and seals it in—that's what toasting does to Burley tobacco.

A new creation in cigarettes

New, different—there is no other cigarette with this new toasted flavor. You can compare it to your morning toast when it's buttered hot.

LUCKY STRIKE is the real Burley cigarette, too—another entirely new idea. You know Burley tobacco—you've been pouring it out of green, blue and red tin boxes for years. Now get the Burley flavor—toasted—in a cigarette, and join the LUCKY STRIKE smoke circle today.

THE OLD STORY.

"The Devil was sick.
The Devil a Saint would be.
The Devil got well;
The Devil a bit was he."
—Old Saying.

Now that the brewers of the state have been relieved of the horrible nightmare of having to witness the people of the state express their own personal opinion on the question of temperance, it is not surprising that they would have put them out of business if adopted—instead of having it settled by the insidious work of their paid lobby, as it was, they would turn virtuous and through their special agents seek to permit the sale of beer, wine and bar all strong drinks from sale in the state during the period of the war.

But the brewers played one card too many when they obtained the veto of the referendum measure. They can meet and suggest to license boards what class of retail liquor shops they should grant a permit to and what not to have become suddenly virtuous, but they were on the wrong side of the law. The proposition of a referendum is distasteful to the average citizen, but on a question of state-wide prohibition, a national issue, a world-wide issue, it is excusable and the people of Wisconsin should have been permitted to voice their own personal opinion on the adoption or rejection of the measure.

If all the evils existed in the bill that were pointed out in the veto and the statement that accompanied it, why in the name of goodness were they not brought up while the bill was in passage and settled then? Why wait until the eleventh hour, when the legislature is in its last quarter of its session, to bring up a bill when it is in committee or on for hearing on the floor and they will have hard work explaining their apparent ignorance when it comes time to seek further favors of their constituents who favored a vote on the question.

The brewers of the preliminary night, but just as sure as green apples appear it is going to cost some applying politicians their political future, and Wisconsin is going to swing into the dry column when the first opportunity comes. The veto has made friends for the dry element and they realize it. Men who never favored dry are now under the influence of the thought the brewers of Milwaukee are to run the state, and they will resist it. The men who stand in the way of this wheel of progress are going to be run over and the sooner they realize it the better it will be.

THE PEACE MIRAGE.

Registration day has come and gone. The young men of the nation are now enrolled for military service as needed. War is driven home with a thrust that apparently dispels any mirage of peace. An eastern exchange says that anything more disinclined than the current peace agitation, for the most part conceived, it may be, by the hands of the German, is the peace agitation. Self-styled socialists, whose withers were unwound when the outrage upon Belgium was perpetrated, and from mushy pacifists who believe in peace at any price, particularly if someone else pays the price. But there is no peace in sight, and perhaps the address of the Austrian emperor to his parliament makes clear quite an unintentionally, the radiant obstacle.

Apparently believing that the public memory can be dragged, German fashion, into neglecting or ignoring the facts of history, he of all others says "our group of powers did not seek the sanguinary trial of strength of this world war." When the initial step of the war is remembered, the first pretext which made the German outrage upon civilization possible, it can only be supposed that the emperor is imitating his predecessor and saying what Berlin allows him to say. He cannot possibly suppose that the world has forgotten the connected quarrel of Austria with Serbia.

And because the Austrian emperor fails to grasp the fact that there can be no peace without contribution and amendment by himself and his allies, the war must continue to a decisive result, in spite of all of the peace agitation which Germany is fomenting. Some of it positively makes the gorge rise. The peace movement of the German Catholic bishops, who were content to condone the destruction of Belgian churches and colleges, the murder of priests, the violation of monasteries, the desecration of altars, so long as such methods promised to help the German cause, absolutely turns the heart sick. To suggest that the policy of these ecclesiastics has been influenced by the Vatican, playing for that medieval faculty, the restoration of the temporal power of the Pope, only makes the matter worse.

Peace agitation of this kind is only a shade more indecent than that of our own German-trained socialists, whose title to represent any phase of American public feeling is conceded by nobody. Doubtless this agitation has had some effect in Russia, and we have enough loose thinkers and moral cowardly within our own borders to make it an influence to be considered. But for the business man, looking ahead, and making provision for the future, it can be said that such "peace" indications as these are worse than illusory. They are but the miasmic light which flickers over a foul and dangerous swamp.

THE NATION.

The wonderful spectacle of ten million or more young men of the age that makes them liable for military duty, marching up to the polls and registering in one day should be a lesson to the whole world, and particularly to the German empire and its followers. The honor of the nation was at stake and the loyal sons responded to the call. There was no hesitancy, no procrastination, but a spontaneous movement to demonstrate to the allied people on the fighting line that the United States is preparing to come to their aid with men, money and food. If this war continues many of the young men will march away to actual war, but they will go prepared, knowing that they are representing a nation that is united in its stand against the autocratic power of imperialism and disregard for the rights of others.

LIBERTY BONDS.

Every citizen can do their share in supporting the government by purchasing a Liberty bond. The banks have shown their patriotism by offering themselves as agents for the sale and distribution of these bonds even though their purchase will mean that the savings deposits will be depleted in many cases by their purchase. The buying of a Liberty bond is an act of patriotism. It means that the purchaser loans Uncle Sam so much money secured by the federal government and paying a fair rate of interest. Just as the young men of the nation have been forced to prepare for military service, so the rest of the nation can furnish the government with the needed means of war by loaning them their money for use in this emergency. Buy a Liberty bond and show your true Americanism.

UNTO THE THIRD GENERATION.

The loyalty parade Tuesday demonstrated that "even unto the third generation" is the spirit of loyalty in the hearts of the American people. Grandfathers, yes some grandmothers, marched in the same parade as their daughters and sons, and grandsons and granddaughters. It was a wonderful demonstration and one which will be long remembered by all who witnessed it or took part. Soldiers of two wars, recruits for the third, men and women, old and young, all came to show their loyalty, and the women and school children, they added to the success of the day's offering in the cause of patriotism and commendation of the young men who are to represent this nation on the battle front in the months to come.

Many men refuse to enlist in order that they may stay at home and make money, but there are some of them who up to date have not put down any of that money to buy a Liberty bond to help back up others that are willing to fight.

The anti-draft plotters need not bother to leave the country, as there are fine accommodations reserved for them in our jails for the rest of their natural lives which they will soon be invited to occupy.

After complaining that the home stores don't keep full assortments, some people go away to other cities and don't give the home stores a chance to work off the assortments they have.

After voting for censorship of the newspapers, some of the congressmen proceed to tell all the inside news about the war on the floor of the House with the world listening.

So far the conscientious objectors to war have shown no conscientious objections to accepting the blessings of liberty that flow from the fighting of a previous generation.

If you want to see large and impressive monuments for a few days look at a college junior who by commencement exercises has been turned into a senior.

There doesn't seem to be any way for anyone to find out the state of our military preparation unless the German spies are willing to tell.

It is surprising how anti-German old FoxWhiskers Carranza has become since Uncle Sam began loaning money to his allies.

It is believed that the Russian munition workers will be willing to work an hour a day with a ten minute interval for luncheon.

Oh, for the noise of a single fire-cracker on the Russian front!

The Daily Novelette

AT THE FRONT.

It was a battle to make the strong tremble and the weak climb trees. Only there were no trees to climb, for the great balls from the eight hundred and sixty cents a meter guns had reduced the all to toothpicks. Shells filled with lizzyite dropped apparently from the clouds and dug holes in the earth large enough for four hundred elephants to stand on their hind legs in.

Occasionally it would appear to be raining in downpours, but it was only bullets from the thousand-shot-a-second cannons.

The enemy's left flank threw down their arms and threw up their legs in flight; the right flank only was left.

Everywhere were flashes, spurts and sheets of flame.

"I think I'm sorry I'm at the front," said Agnew Wettle with a gulp.

"Sorry?" replied his brother Tom with a grim laugh. "Why?"

"It always hurts my eyes to be so near the screen," exclaimed Agnew.

"I'd just as soon move back further myself," acknowledged Tom. "This with the trombone gets on my ears."

And they moved back to Row M, while the moving picture moved on.

Mechanical Decoy Ducks. For use when duck shooting there are mechanical decoys, which are able when wound up to quack and swim.

When the wild birds appear they are easily deceived by the quacking and soon fall victims to the hunter's gun.

The mechanism is so arranged that at certain intervals the decoy gives utterance to a shrill call, swimming about in the water meanwhile by means of a propeller and rudder that gives it a remarkable resemblance to its living prototype.

When it is necessary to clean it or adjust the machinery the decoy can be opened and taken apart. The propeller is driven by clockwork, which also regulates the photographic apparatus.

JANESVILLE STAGES BIG DEMONSTRATION

tantia, the outrages in Belgium, the "scrap" of paper policy. "As the great north in the days of '91 called back the answer to the call for men. We're coming, Father Abraham, four hundred thousand strong, let us now roll back to Washington the answer, we're coming. Father Abraham, four hundred thousand strong."

"My fellow citizens, Janesville is a 'polyglot city' said the Honorable John M. Whitehead in the address of the day. It supports the energies of Europe is spoken upon our streets. See in this audience those whom I know to have been foreign born and see them waving the starry banner of liberty. Janesville speaks the languages of the world, and Janesville is a typical western city. Janesville, please God, is ready for the supreme sacrifice!"

This day is being denominated by our governor as "Duty Day," a very fitting name to apply to these men and women and the children have laid aside their usual activities today, to bear evidence to their appreciation of the country and of the crisis which confronts us today.

We are at war—make no mistake about that! The war which we are engaged in is the greatest war in human history, and before this day one of our soldiers will be fighting under the flag of the Union in the trenches of France. And we are making the Atlantic ocean the highest and noblest impulses of American citizens. The government is not sending these men to Europe to burn cathedrals and galleries and universities; we are not sending them there to hang old men and shoot and outrage women and to mutilate little children. We are sending them to fight for the principles of the United States which shall control the conduct of the soldiers whom we shall send to Europe. And this government will not send them into a war with an injunction like that which the emperor of Prussia gave to his soldiers: "when he sent them to help China. They will not go there, to make the land of a terrible people be remembered for a thousand years, and spoken only with tremulous lips. There will be no 'dreadfulness' under the direction of American generals. There will be men under these colors who love liberty and who know what liberty means."

"We have been accustomed in this country to government by debate, but now we have now come to have a government by obedience. We may not have voted for the president, we may not have been elected to Congress, but we are all American citizens, whether we were born on this soil or on foreign soil. Whether we by birth came into our allegiance or by oath, if we are citizens, our interest is united and our common purpose is to serve our race. We cannot permit a nation to rule the world which rules by a policy of 'dreadfulness' and to take the nations of Europe to take their ideals from us, but we say, 'You shall not impose upon us and upon more helpless peoples the doctrine of policy that you have pursued in Belgium and in Serbia and in Argentina! We have stood by while blood was shed like water in those countries. We have not protested, we have not taken a bloody struggle, but under the providence of God, the day has come and the hour has struck when the United States of America, by its president has said, 'Thus far and no farther.'"

"We are not ready to discuss terms of peace, that shall today the conclusion of this struggle. We are only ready to discuss the means to be used to carry this war through to a successful termination. I heard a young man Sunday night in a church in this city, fresh from the military camp, say, 'We are in this war to win.' If we are not in this war to win, by what right do we sacrifice a life or take a dollar of the people's money? This is not a buccaneering expedition, it is a great crusade, in the interest of civilization and humanity and liberty, and as I see these people here today and look into their serious faces, I see that they are alive to their duty; and as I sat in the registering booth and saw scores of young men coming to be enlisted here today, I saw in their serious countenances the evidence of a resolution that they will do as they ought, and what we all ought to do is simply everything that we can do to win the war. We shall triumph for the God of the universe, yes, rules—not the tribal god of any belligerent, but the great Creator of us all, and he does not want this great flow of blood to continue to flow unless it is for a purpose, nor to cease until the earth has been redeemed. I want the war to end, but when it ends I want it to end with just results. I want those results to strengthen the rule of law and the sway of righteousness so that the combined power of the human race may be exercised for things that are right. I am not prepared for a peace that stops short of this great consummation, and if we gain this (and we shall) it will be worth while to have had the war. Question: What have the cubed men everywhere are going to be settled on a basis of equity and forbearance and justice, and people are going to learn that sacrifice is that which saves, is that which lives, is that which glorifies a people—and as I said at the beginning, let me close, with the words, JANESVILLE IS READY FOR THIS SUPREME SACRIFICE!"

During the exercises the assembly sang "America" and "The Star Spangled Banner" under the direction of Robert Dailey. Dean E. L. Reilly concluded the program with a benediction.

Immediately afterward a huge crowd gathered to watch Company A give an exhibition drill, a drill almost perfect in the precision and swiftness with which the men went through the difficult movements of close order formations.

Janesville Center. The city's great room proved its convenience again yesterday in caring for the crowds. Many women took advantage of the place to rest and care for their children. A large and comfortable lunch on the tables at the noon hour, and the place was well patronized all day. There were about three hundred visitors, as nearly as can be estimated, during the day.

Coast Defense. The present extensive system of powerful harbor fortifications and sea coast defenses of the United States was commenced about the year 1794, under an act authorizing the president to fortify certain works along the seaboard.

ON THE SPUR of the MOMENT

ROY K. MOULTON

Of all the woes or miseries that tease one.
Of all the ills that rack the mortal frame.
Of all the blooming blights that ever seize one.
Of all the ails that ever do the same.
Of all the pangs, the agonies and anguish.
Whereas! alas! the human lot is cursed.
Of all that ever made one pine and languish.
A summer cold is certainly the worst!

Its cruelties, we wouldn't hope to list 'em.
And by your ear, or rather, by your hand, get a grip and seldom leaves the system.
Till come the winter's chilliness and snows.
It is indeed no trick at all to take it.
And though it may not put you in a hreeze,
Just wait until you really try to shake it!
A summer cold is certainly a curse.

A winter cold is scarcely ever pleasing.
And yet it isn't half so hard to bear.
In winter one will do a bit of sneezing.
And simply get some warmer things to wear.
In summer, though we faithfully endeavor.
To give a cold the boot and speed its flight.
A summer cold will stick around.
A summer cold is certainly a blight!

TODAY'S SNEER.
If you want to be "made a Fool of" Right, do it Yourself.

The Two.
Some seem to live their lives as fools.
And many moans and wails attest That they forever make the worst of the best.

In others lives there is expressed For hope and happiness a thirst.
And they appear to make the best Of the worst.

Remnants.
There is some use for everything in the world, but the world has no use for a knocker.
Women almost always keep the little things they love and yet they die for their secrets.

Most people acknowledge their shortcomings in the hope of being contradicted.
It takes years to be nothing so uninteresting as the things we are all agreed on.

It should humiliate the Kaiser to hear that Carranza proposes to fight for his barbarous inhumanity and his crimes against civilization. There should be a sympathy between the incubator chick and the chick that is raised in a nest. The present mild winter indicates that we'll have a late spring. Better not set out any plants till August.

You Can't Be Sure.
Who always wears a smiling phiz, Perhaps a better life is his. Perhaps he finds at peace his soul And he is happy on the whole. That he should never fail to greet With smiles whomever he may meet. And then again, perhaps the smile is but a low and cunning wile. Perhaps he comes to borrow, beg, to make a touch or pull your leg. Or sell you paper-knives or yeast. We've noticed this of smiles, at least. A many men who loath to work Are handy with the oily smirk!

If there is a man who gets greater pleasure than pain out of his vanity He is the world's greatest Fool.

JUMPS FROM LAUNCH STALLED NEAR DAM

CHARLES TRILOFF, AGED FIFTY-
FOUR, DROWS IN ROCK
RIVER NEAR FOURTH
AVENUE BRIDGE.

FRIGHT COSTS HIS LIFE

George F. Davis, His Companion, Saves Boat From Going Over Dam By Grabbing Bridge Cable.

Losing all presence of mind and fearing to be swept over the upper dam
when the engine of the launch stalled, Charles Triloff, 504 North Chatham street, 54 years of age, joint proprietor with William Boos of the St. Charles Hotel, leaped from the boat and was drowned. The launch, which was Fourth avenue bridge, just a few minutes before nine o'clock last night.
Had he not taken fright he would have been safe. George F. Davis, a machinist, living at 462 North Pearl street,
his companion, grabbed a wire cable under the highway bridge and started the engine, saving the launch about and into the boat house without trouble.

Three quarters of an hour later the police were notified. The body was almost immediately recovered by William Boos, one of the men sent busy with grappling hooks by Chief of Police
P. D. Champion, above the dam.

The men had been on the river throughout the day, although Mr. Triloff did not make the up-trip with Mr.
Davis in the latter's launch.

According to the story told this morning by Mrs. Davis, related to her by her husband, the latter did not know that his companion intended to jump until Triloff shouted as he leaped and struck the water.

"I guess I can make it," he cried, and struck out. Knowing the man's reputation as an expert swimmer and recognizing the possibility of the boat being swept over the dam, Davis engaged himself in preparing to grab the bridge as the current carried the boat underneath. Triloff had jumped but the two bridges, many feet from the dam.

As he came to the bridge, Davis reached out and caught the cable which extended from abutment to abutment for just such an emergency.
Holding onto this with one hand he worked on the engine with the other,
and shortly had control of the boat.

At the launch house his wife and his daughter, Miss Elsie, who had come down when Mr. Davis failed to return, in the excitement and the half-belief that Triloff had reached the shore, they did not think of the nearest telephone to summon aid to determine what had become of the man in the river, and it was not until the three reached the home half a mile away that they called and informed the police.

In a wallet in the inside pocket of Triloff's vest the two officers found seventy-seven dollars in bills and in his pockets several dollars in change.
The deceased is survived by his widow, Mrs. S. J. Gardner of Broadhead, one brother, Herman Triloff, all of this city. The funeral will be held at two o'clock Friday afternoon from St. John's Evangelical Lutheran church, and interment will be made in Oak Hill cemetery.

Until Thursday afternoon the remains will be in the Ryan mortuary parlors. Attendees desire to view them there may do so.

Janesville Lodge 254, B. P. O. E., en-

Rockford lodge of the order, who

ing. The lodge also entertained visiting brothers from Chicago, Oshkosh and Racine lodges as well as members of the Lakota club. Eleven candidates were initiated and Chairman Green of the house committee had prepared an especially dainty supper.
The Rockford delegation proved to be royal entertainers and under the leadership of Mr. Harris, who styled himself "chairman of the committee on foreign relations," kept the members who assembled in the lodge room in a gale of laughter for over two hours.

BAPTIST PHILATHEA CLASS HOLDS MONTHLY SUPPER

A pleasant little informal supper was served by the Philathea class to their members yesterday evening at the Baptist church parlors. This class belongs to the Sunday school and numbers about thirty-five girls. Their leader is Miss Mary Barker and their president, Miss Calla Schwartz. These social parties are held about once a month, and serve to keep up the cordial feeling and co-operation in the class. At present they are engaged in Red Cross work, hemming linens, etc., for the general supplies and have undertaken to make and fill up bags of the comfort bags for Company
M. A pleasant feature of these occasions is that several of the girls, although married, keep up the cordial feeling in the organization and bring their babies with them to the meetings. Two matrons with their little folks were present last evening.

CORN MARKET TAKES A DECIDED ADVANCE AT TODAY'S OPENING

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS)
Chicago, June 6.—Extreme advances of from 8 1/2 to 9 1/2 cents were scored in the corn market at the opening today in the protest process of adjusting trades, because of adoption of a maximum price of the last previous session on Monday. Yesterday was a holiday. The directors of the board of trade fixed the maximum price of all deliveries of maize at $1.65, a price far in advance of the third deliveries, and allowing considerable head room for an advance in July options.

RED TAPE PREVENTS BOYS' DEPARTURE

Alonzo Pond and Orson Loomis Are Assigned to Group Leaving for France on June 16.

Owing to red tape and some misunderstanding at Red Cross headquarters, Orson Loomis and Alonzo Pond, who had planned to leave Janesville today for New York City where they would sail on Saturday for France to enter the American division of the ambulance corps, will not leave until next Tuesday. They will probably leave with the group sailing from the United States the latter part of this week. The delay comes as a great disappointment to the two young men who had been looking forward to their departure this week.

CITY MANAGER PLAN KILLED IN SENATE

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS)
Madison, June 6.—The House bill to permit the city manager plan in the state was non-concurred in by the senate today when that body refused to reconsider the vote by which it originally killed the measure. The Anderson resolution for daily sessions of the legislature was adopted.

Concurrence was given the Gammerresolution directing the attorney general to recover tax certificates on lands now part of Devil's Lake State Park. The Wilcox bill to relieve municipalities from any part of grade crossing reduction was defeated in the senate 17 to 13, after a two hours debate. A resolution by Skogmo for a joint interim committee to inquire into the grade crossing problem was definitely postponed to 14. The assembly after long debate, tabled
the bill giving the state conservation commission power to condemn certain lands near Devil's Lake.

Concurrence was given the Bray bill permitting the school boards to furnish lunches to school children at cost not to exceed 10 cents per pupil. The bill regulating the employment of the children in street trades was sent to third reading.

SAFE FARMING

WILL HELP IN FOOD CRISIS

CYRUS H. MCCORMICK, President of the Harvester Company, has asked 40,000 employees of the company to aid farmers in answer to President Wilson's call for co-operation of the people of the United States in the emergency of war. His message follows:

"The President of the United States has made an appeal to the Nation which must stir the heart of every patriot and inspire him to extra effort in the service of his country.

"From the latest reports of our representatives in many countries, we are satisfied that the President's statement as to the crop situation is most conservative. The whole world is now facing a shortage of crops. I fear the situation is even more serious than we realize. Stronuous effort must be made to lessen—and if possible to avoid—the disaster which would be world-wide if our present fears regarding the crop shortage become a reality.

"The United States should avoid the mistakes made by the European countries now at war. In some countries the necessity for preserving the herds and the breeding cattle was overlooked. The result was a failure in the supply of meat and butter. In other countries, as the war progressed, owing to the scarcity of labor, much land was left untilled, resulting in a shortage of crops.

"Our people should heed these lessons and avoid both these dangers. On the one hand we must cultivate every available acre, so that our food production—upon which, with that of Canada, the world is depending to relieve its hunger—may be as large as possible. We must also keep up the number of our cattle, sheep and pigs, so that with economical consumption the supply of meat shall be sufficient. Let us not drift until it is too late to take the steps needed to enlarge and protect these sources of food supply.

Economy the Watchword.

"No less important than increased production is the lessening of waste. Economy is the watchword of the day. Expenditures should be regulated, not by the size of a man's bank account, but by the merits of each transaction. Wastefulness, bad at any time, today is a crime against society.

"The patriotic women of the Nation can be of incalculable help, especially in the economies of the home. Never was there a time when they could exert such power as they can today. In a crisis like this the burden falls especially heavily upon them, and they have already demonstrated their ability to think independently, speak wisely, and act forcefully.

"In this time of trial, let us set ourselves to answer the question: What can we do with loyal service to respond to the call made by the President of our country?

Harvester Men Will Help.

"A special responsibility rests upon our organization. We come in daily and close contact with the food producing forces of the country—in fact, we are a part of these forces. Our first obligation is to give the farmers the best and promptest service in supplying needed repairs and expert assistance, and to aid them in raising more crops of better quality and with less waste. For years the Company, through its Agricultural Extension Department, has been preaching the gospel of more intensive and intelligent agriculture. Every International Harvester man should now carry this information to his community and co-operate with organizations and movements which seek to enlarge the crop area and production of the United States.

"The service we can give in this emergency is to be considered, not as incidental to other business, but as of first importance. It is my most earnest hope that our Company shall be second to none in its contribution of efficient service to the country, and to this I ask the best efforts of every co-worker in the International Harvester organization."

News Notes from Movieland

BY DAISY DEAN

Do clothes make the man? They don't.

Does the man make the clothes? He does.

William Russell, whose athletic record reads like that of an All-American field team leader, is apparently out to wipe the sartorial handicap in the free-for-all event.

The tailor who secured a contract to decorate "Bill" Russell had reason to qualify his first enthusiasms before he had finished making the seven new suits and four overcoats ordered by the venturesome young star.

One of the first garments ordered by the star was a suit. Russell insisted that he wanted the suit loose, and Mr. Sartoris declared, with much justification, that a suit could not be made loose because suits were "being worn tight."

"This suit will be worn loose," rapped out the actor with some asperity—"It will not be worn at all unless it happens to be just the way I want it."

Bingo!

Russell has a loose suit. Well, the upshot of it is that "Willy Bill" has a whole lot of new clothes and they are made after his own heart.

"SILLY LAUGHTER" IN FAR-OFF EGYPT

Charlie Chaplin recently received a letter from an admirer who lives in Cairo in which the writer inclosed an excerpt from an Anglo-Egyptian theatrical program. It showed the extra-ordinary translations of both French and English that manage to find their way into public announcements in Egypt. Here it is:

Sensational. Conical.

"THE VAGABOND."

Great comedy, in two parts, of a poignant interest, assisting with anguish at the terrible peripeties of a young girl falling in hand, of Bohemian bandits. Picture of this film as delicious, being taken at the trees and mountains of California.

Great success. Silly laughter.

One company is making a movie version of Margaret Widdemer's novel, "The Rose Garden Husband," with Mignon Anderson, L. M. Wells, Leo Pierson and Julia Jackson in the cast. For the background of some of the scenes the rose gardens of a number of Pasadena estates have been leased, and the indefatigable press agent has calculated that 1,000,000 roses will be shown on the screen.

FRENCH TRAIN MEN TO FIGHT WITH U. S.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

With the French Armies, June 6.—France has begun training the class of 1918, consisting of the youngest recruits, by whose side America's army will be fighting next fall, should the war last that long.

The new French class will be younger than the men of the American army. They will be but 19, while the youngest American will be 21, now at the instruction camps in France. The French class hopes that American intervention will render it unnecessary to ever again call out one of the French ages before the usual military age.

GERMANY STEALS ENGLISH WAR PATENT

London, June 6.—When a German seaplane swooped down and discharged an aerial torpedo which sank the 3,000-ton British steamship Gena, the Boche stole one of the pet ideas for naval warfare which the British admiralty had been treasuring. Over a year ago the English aeroplanes were fitted out with devices for carrying and discharging torpedoes against enemy ships, but the Germans beat them to it. The idea of aeroplanes attacking in that fashion is extremely practical, a British naval authority declared today. It is hoped that the United States will soon start offensive movements against German ships with means of attack. A light gun, loaded with cordite, may be used to fire the torpedo, or a special launching arrangement in the form of a light basket which throws the torpedo and enables it to be aimed.

London, June 5.—London newspapers took particular interest in the meeting of the English commissioners and Mayor Mitchell in New York. They recalled that the mayor's grandfather, John Mitchell, was an Irish rebel who was convicted in 1848 and sent to the Australian prison colony. He escaped to the United States in 1871. He was then so broken in health that he was not re-arrested. Tipperary elected him to parliament but he was declared ineligible. Thereupon Tipperary re-elected him, but he soon afterward died.

One of the London newspapers remarked charitably, in recalling these facts, that "Mitchell, then rebel, came of decent people, for his father was the Rev. John Mitchell of county Down."

Old Habit Among Rooks.
Among the odd habits of rooks is the way that members of the same rookery have of intermarrying generation after generation. The males always choose their wives from among their near neighbors, and if one should be so bold as to bring home to his rookery a bride from a distance the other rooks will invariably refuse to receive her and will force the pair to build some way off. In the neighborhood of big rookeries outlying nests of this kind may always be found.

Heart and Home Problems

BY ELIZABETH THOMPSON
LETTERS MAY BE ADDRESSED TO MRS. THOMPSON, IN CARE OF THE GAZETTE

Dear Mrs. Thompson: (1) I have been going with a girl for almost a year. I have been with her twice and sometimes more a week. During this time I have not gone with any other girl, although I have had several chances to do so. I always thought that as long as my friend did not go with other boys I would not go with other girls. I do not live near town and I cannot go to see the girl more than two or three times a week. I have to wait until she comes to town. She has treated me better than any girl I have ever known. But there is one thing I do not like which I know she is doing of late. Not long ago she was coming home from her music lesson with another girl friend and they let some strangers take them home. I found this out and I was angry at first but now she owns up to it and is sorry she did not tell me the truth right away. She said the boys came up to her and her friend and asked if they could take them home. The girls do not not know their names yet.

Before she went with this stranger I said to her that if I ever knew her I would not go with her. She said she did not care what I thought and she said she would go with the stranger. I am sure that if I ever knew her I would not go with her. She said she did not care what I thought and she said she would go with the stranger. I am sure that if I ever knew her I would not go with her. She said she did not care what I thought and she said she would go with the stranger.

Before she went with this stranger I said to her that if I ever knew her I would not go with her. She said she did not care what I thought and she said she would go with the stranger. I am sure that if I ever knew her I would not go with her. She said she did not care what I thought and she said she would go with the stranger. I am sure that if I ever knew her I would not go with her. She said she did not care what I thought and she said she would go with the stranger.

(2) I am twenty-two and my friend is nineteen. Are we old enough to go steady?

A SILENT READER.
(1) Your little girl friend certainly made a mistake by going out with a strange man, and she soon realized that she would not have cried when she talked about it to you. Forgive her this time and forget the matter. Let her feel that you believe in her and know that she has learned her lesson. Girls cheapen themselves and hurt their reputations by going with strange boys. Of this I am sure, because a boy in your class does not even want to go with a girl who makes friends with unprincipled strangers. The girl is very young to go with a boy and you do not want to go with anyone else, I suppose it is all right. There is no sense in forcing yourselves to go with someone you do not enjoy.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: About a year ago I met a pretty young girl whom I learned to love. She was returned and we were to each other something more than friends. But after a few short months the girl began to act indifferent. She would not allow me to come to see her and she began to go out with other men. She also talked about me and hurt me in many ways. What would cause her to act that way? I never prevented her from doing anything she pleased and I always acted as a gentleman should when in the presence of ladies. She was well liked for a short time, I am sure. Is it possible for me to get her good graces and love back again? I have known her for a long time and I know her very well. I am sure that if I ever knew her I would not go with her. She said she did not care what I thought and she said she would go with the stranger. I am sure that if I ever knew her I would not go with her. She said she did not care what I thought and she said she would go with the stranger.

It is human nature to want the things we cannot have. You cared so much for the girl that you killed her. You were too sure of you. Love cannot be forced, and so when the girl's regard for you died she cannot be blamed for giving you up. But she can be blamed for talking about you—certainly she ought not to do that. Do not force your attentions upon her. To seek her love now would only make her dislike you all the more. In time she may see where she has made a mistake and again receive your attentions if they are not too awkward. Meanwhile, what pleasure can you in the company of other girls.

There is some truth in the idea that certain individuals imagine things and that some semi-invalids exaggerate the importance of insignificant sensations. To laugh at these unfortunate is no longer a doctor's function; it was good form back in the prehistoric age of medicine.
Generally the doctor who laughs at a client is a swivel-chair diagnostician. He knows more than he knows. If he would take off his coat, roll up his sleeves, touch his whiskers in his pockets out of the way and go to work, he might discover that there are lots of troubles a patient may have even when the bowels are regular, the tongue clear, the appetite hearty, the pulse normal and the sleep sound. A doctor who laughs at a client is as obsolete today as the doctor who used to get drunk and curse his simple-minded clients in the haycocks when ignorant folks liked that sort of thing.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS
MOLASSES OR HONEY CAKE
Shall I let my little boy, three years old, eat molasses on his bread and Johnny cake? He craves for it, but a neighbor says it is a shame to put him on it. Is it the worst thing in the world to make worms.
(Mrs. H. H. N.)

ANSWER—The neighbor, all unbecomingly, is just right. Molasses is the worst possible thing you could use to make worms. You might feed that boy a barrel of it every day, and still never make a worm. I am sure that if I ever knew her I would not go with her. She said she did not care what I thought and she said she would go with the stranger. I am sure that if I ever knew her I would not go with her. She said she did not care what I thought and she said she would go with the stranger.

CAKES, PASTRIES, ETC.

Cinnamon Cake—One cup sugar, one egg, three tablespoons melted butter, one cup sweet milk, two and one-half cups flour, two and one-half cups baking powder, one teaspoon salt, one teaspoon cinnamon, one teaspoon nutmeg. Bake in two pans as layer cake. Sprinkle sugar on top of cake, then cinnamon on top of sugar, before baking.
Cherry Grumb Cake—Five cups flour, two cups sugar, a little salt, one cup lard or butter or both. Take flour, sugar and shortening and rub together. Then add the other ingredients and sprinkle over top when in pan. Add one pint sour milk, one teaspoon soda in the milk, one teaspoon cinnamon, one teaspoon cloves, one pound seeded raisins, nuts if you like. Bake until thoroughly done. Best way is to try by pricking with straw.
Prune Cake—Beat to a cream one cup sugar and two-thirds cup butter, add yolks of three eggs, one cup finely chopped stewed prunes, one teaspoon each of ground cinnamon and nutmeg, one and one-half cups flour and scant teaspoon baking soda dissolved in three-fourths cup sour milk. Do not sweeten the prunes when stewing. Bake very slowly. This makes a good-sized loaf cake.
Snickerdoodles—Two tablespoons butter, one cup soft sugar, one egg, half cup milk, half cup chopped raisins, heaping teaspoon baking powder, two cups flour. Drop by teaspoonful and sprinkle thickly with mixed sugar and cinnamon. Nuts and shredded coconut may be substituted for raisins.

French Apple Dumplings—Peel and core apples, sprinkle with sugar. Mix some cold boiled rice with one egg, pinch salt, sugar, cinnamon, flavor to make a dough; cover apples with the dough, put in well-buttered bake dish with one spoon butter and bake to a delicate brown. Serve with whipped cream.
Italian Lady Locks—Dough: One teaspoon flour, one half teaspoon salt, one half teaspoon sugar, one half teaspoon water. Knead and roll out to about one-fourth inch thick, cut in squares and shape over well-greased cone-shaped object. Bake in moderate oven. When a light brown remove. Cream Filling: One pint milk, yolks of two eggs, one teaspoon granulated sugar. Put yolks of eggs and sugar in milk, beat until well mixed. Take a clean cheesecloth and strain mixture through cheesecloth into small sauce pan, and place on fire. When it comes to a boil pour in three tablespoons cornstarch dissolved in a little cold water, and one-half teaspoon lemon extract, stirring all the while to prevent burning. Soon as it starts to thicken remove from fire and stir in one-half teaspoon of chopped nuts and chocolate and pour on platter. When cream filling is cold fill cones and sprinkle with a little powdered sugar and cinnamon and serve.
Valley Forge Pudding—Put five tablespoons cornstarch into a sauce pan and moisten with one-half cup cold milk, stir in two cups boiling milk and cook till clear, add four tablespoons sugar, strained juice of one lemon, stiffly beaten whites of four eggs, mix thoroughly, then pour into wet mold to cool. When ready to serve invert on a pretty dish and fill center with preserved or canned fruit for five or six persons.

Stewed Salt Cod—Take three pounds of cod, wash it and dry in a cloth. Cut in small pieces and dip in oatmeal flour. Fry two ounces of fine chopped onion with two ounces of butter and two tablespoons of oil. Fry the onion to a light brown, add the cod, cook for seven or eight minutes, stirring gently. Add now a gill of white wine, season with pepper and a pinch of cinnamon. Stew slowly, for twenty-five minutes in a sauce pan partly covered with its lid.

"Where is Patty?" asked Eleanor. "She is lying down," says she, looking earnestly at him. "Is she sick?" "She has a headache. I am ordered to call," he added after a pause. Eleanor's "Oh!" was very comprehending. "When do you go?" asked Douglas. "Tomorrow," said she, silence that settled over the family was like a pall.

"Where is Uncle Bertram going?" asked Jack in a stage whisper. The solemnity in the atmosphere penetrated his boy's consciousness. "He is to leave for camp to get ready to go to the front," answered Eleanor. "Doesn't he want to go?" asked the child, for to him the news had a joyful ring. "He hates to leave all of us," answered Eleanor, "but he is responsible for this war will have a heavy account to settle. No one in

"How long will he be gone?" the lad finally asked. "I don't know," answered Bertram with forced gaiety. "It must needs be that offences come, but woe unto them by whom they come." It was Douglas who boomed out at once. "What does that mean, Mother?" whispered the child, the one who is responsible for this war will have a heavy account to settle. No one in

WHAT SOME WOMEN DO.

Some weeks ago I wrote you about the women who in asking unreasonable privileges trade on a shop's desire to keep their custom. I mean the women who demand adjustments on wares that are fairly and squarely worn out; who have Persian rugs sent out on approval and return them after they have served their purpose of dress; who go to the house for a function; or do the same with cut glass punch bowls and even send them back unwashed.

A letter friend called my attention to the fact that the women I described were all women of means, and objected to my implying that the lack of business honor thus shown was a feminine trait.

"It's The Upper Class Women," she says. "The middle class women don't do that sort of thing," she wrote. "They are the ones who pay the costs. They add insult to injury by putting it blame on them instead of where it belongs. I agree with my letter friend, partly way."

The guests will meet at my house, 117 R. street, at 8 o'clock. Cordially yours, etc."

SOCIAL WELFARE WORKERS ASSEMBLE

Pittsburgh, Pa., June 6.—More than 3,500 strong, the delegates to the forty-fourth annual convention of the National Conference of Charities and Corrections came to order at the 122 of President Frederick Almy's gavel at the William Penn hotel today. For six days they will wrestle with long questions of social welfare. Those include birth control, prison reform, eugenics, child welfare, trade union legislation, the rural community's social problems, and many other matters connected with the general subject of charities and corrections. While the principal organization is in session, delegates representing various assemblies more or less allied will be attending several minor conventions, including that of the International Association of Policewomen.

Since graduating in 1915 she has been studying in the graduate department of history in Yale University, winning the degree of doctor of philosophy there.

The middle class woman may not get such large concessions because she has not the power to force them, but she gets what she can. Her weapon is not so large but that of that if she uses it just as scrupulously? She can get by with a thing is not a reason for doing it. To use the fear of losing your custom as a bludgeon to hold over a merchant and enforce privileges you do not deserve is plain unscrupulousness.

MORRIS MILLER

Abe Attell tells a quaint yarn on a date time opponent. Abe was boxing a little darkey one night, and let it be said that the colored boy was giving Abraham quite the time of his life trying to block leads and punches. Abe's handlers were up to all the tricks of the boxing trade, and then some more. Every time that Attell came back to the corner one of his seconds would step up and carefully comb Attell's hair. Faultlessly groomed Attell walked out from the corner after each rest looking as if he had just stepped from the barber shop. The colored boy could not understand it. At the beginning of the ninth round the dusky youth would not leave his corner. He looked up and said, "It's no use. He use the hair to fight dat Abe Attell. Ah didn't even muss his hair!" So he quit.

Plans for the big annual water carnival in Honolulu have taken definite form and the A. A. U. has been requested to make arrangements for several of the foremost American swimmers to take part. Two of the eastern girls who have figured prominently at recent meets are Miss Callahan, the national all-around champion, and Miss Olga Dorfner of Philadelphia, the indoor title and record holder.

The boosters for recruiting in slacker New York City enlisted John McGraw and he made speeches recently at noonday meetings. One of his talks McGraw said: "I know baseball fans are willing to make a fight for what they think is right, for I have had enough experience with them to find that out. McGraw also told his hearers that he does not know of a ball player who is not ready and willing to go to the front.

In part payment for Jake Pitler, the second baseman secured from Chattanooga, the Pittsburgh club gives Bill Gleason, who has had a trial at second base for the Pirates, but failed to please Callahan. Pitler, the new man, has been leading the Southern league in hitting. His home town is Pittsburgh and he is a brother of Johnny Ray, the pugilist who bails from the Smoky City.

Big Ed Walsh, once the star pitcher of the Chicago White Sox, may become a member of the Giants. Walsh took a workout at the Polo grounds a few days ago under the supervision of Manager McGraw, who has turned him over to a specialist. McGraw had George Chalmers treated by the same physician several years ago, but Chalmers was allowed to go to the Phillies, for whom he pitched good ball. If Walsh's arm can be cured McGraw says that he will be glad to try the famous boxman later in the season. Walsh is in splendid health, and during his recent workout he seemed to have considerable speed. He wore the Giants' road uniform and few of the spectators discovered his presence in the field.

Danny Murphy, who has had rather indifferent success as a minor league manager since he quit Connie Mack, is doing better this year with his New Haven team. It has been showing the way in the Eastern league race. Other managers, however, say his sport will be short lived.

Russell Ford, who has been unable to pitch winning ball for Denver this season, announces that he is going to give up and return to his trade of draftsman.

Pitcher Booth Hopper, taken on by St. Joseph after he failed to come back at Minneapolis, has been dropped. He could not make good for the Drummers.

The St. Joseph club, to make room for its Virginia league players, has had to make several changes. Ben Smith, a capable looking outfielder, has been released to Mason City of the Central Association.

The Bridgeport club has returned Pitcher Haggy to Baltimore and Pitcher Gillison to Toledo. Pitchers not fast enough for these Class A clubs hardly can get by in the Eastern league.

Richmond is the only city in the majors and minors which has not had a game postponed this season on account of rain or wet grounds.

Maxwell's Great Engine Cuts Your Gasoline Bill in Half

Thousands of Maxwell owners run their cars for $6 to $8 a month—the Maxwell sets the pace for the world in upkeep economy.

Mechanical efficiency—that's the fixed, unswerving purpose of the Maxwell organization, from the President down to the youngest and newest apprentice.

The real motor car—the real Maxwell—is on the inside, where you can't see it.

Motor car value depends on the hidden machinery—not on a glossy body, rich upholstery, handsome lamps, not on gimmicks and novelties which are only too often damaged before the public, for much the same reason that a fisherman decorates his hook with gay feathers and bright metal ornaments.

The Maxwell has one chassis model—one stable, time-tried model,

—never tinkered with by the fellow with an untasted idea to exploit,

—but a model that has been developed, refined, perfected, year by year—soberly, painstakingly, scientifically.

The Maxwell Mechanically Right

The Maxwell Motor Company waited four years to make that statement.

Starting on sound, scientific principles—the company spent four years in bringing its car to mechanical perfection.

The goal is won—undisputed facts prove it.

For example, a Maxwell stock car—with an engine identical like your Maxwell will have covered 22,022 miles in 44 days and nights, without the motor ever stopping.

That car traveled at 25 miles an hour,

—made 22 miles per gallon of gasoline,

—and scored a record never equaled by any other vehicle built by human hands.

Proof of Maxwell Economy

Thousands of witnesses spring up all over the land to testify to that.

—a veritable army of satisfied Maxwell owners who report —that they get upwards of thirty miles per gallon of gasoline—some even forty,

—and that they run their cars at a monthly expense of $6 to $8.

Mrs. Miriam Thayer Seeley, Professor in the Oregon Agricultural College, drove her Maxwell across the continent and back—9,700 miles over every conceivable variety of road—on an expense bill of $8.19 a month for gasoline, oil and repairs.

The Maxwell costs $665 f. o. b. Detroit —and that small price is distributed over many years

—for you get many, not merely one or two, years of service out of a Maxwell.

How The Maxwell Machine Excels

The engine is a marvel, sturdy, durable, simple, dependable, with power to spare.

The transmission is simple, smooth, self-lubricating, scientific, trouble-proof.

The Maxwell clutch runs in oil—is wear-proof—more efficient than the clutch in any car made, no matter what price or class.

Maxwell axles are designed—forged, heat-treated and built complete in our own factories. They have stood up in service under four years of the severest road tests possible to give them by more than 200,000 owners.

The Maxwell Proves Itself

We stake our reputation that the Maxwell will more than make good on all we have told about it.

All we ask of you is that you will let us prove it.

Come in to our sales rooms and let the car demonstrate itself to you.

It won't take you long to realize that we have not said enough in praise of the Maxwell.

Roadster, $650; Touring Car, $665; Cabriolet, $865; Town Car, $915; Sedan, $985; completely equipped, including electric starter and lights. All prices f. o. b. Detroit.

Then Note the Musical Features:

Charles W. Niles and his famous Hussar Band, fourth year with Lincoln Chautauquas; Alma Beck, contralto prima donna, supported by Adolf and Mary Hahn, due violinists, an all-star company; the American Opera Quartet—Joel Moasberg's organization, giving the best in vocal music, along with opera in costume, at night; the L. A. C. Orchestra, eight talented young ladies in instrumental and vocal numbers; Martha Cook, known throughout the northwest as one of its sweetest singers, and Bland's Collegians.

And Turn to the Exceptional Entertainers:

Arthur Kachel, interpreter of great plays; Tom Corvine, who has made thousands of people laugh and cry for joy; Beulah Truitt, talented reader; Beatrice Weller, with her cartoons and art-pictures illuminated with sparkling humor, and William Sterling Battis, in his portrayal of Dickens' characters.

A proper control of the play hours of the children of your community means much to their future development and welfare. The Youths' Chautauqua program, with a trained worker in charge, is carefully worked out with a view to the interests of your young people. Their week of profit and pleasure will culminate in a pageant given by them and directed by our Supervisors.

Buy a Season Ticket and Save Money

There are fifty-eight highly talented people on this program. This feast of good things, eighteen sessions in all, is yours for $2.00, the price of the season ticket. You would pay that much for a single theatre ticket in the city. Youths' tickets, 8 to 15 years, $1.00. Children under eight, accompanied by their parents, free. Tickets are transferable.

The chautauqua is a community enterprise and as such deserves your hearty support and co-operation. It will be a success if all work together, but success only comes through continuity of effort. Buy your season ticket and do it now, thereby showing your interest in the best things for your children, your home and your town.
